Mānawa maiea te putanga o Matariki

Mānawa maiea te ariki o te rangi

Hail the rise of Matariki

Hail the lord of the sky

Hail the New Year

The rising of the stars of Matariki (and Puaka/Puanga) every winter heralds the end of one lunar year and the dawn of the next within te Ao Māori.

The rising of Matariki in the morning sky is observed in the month of Pipiri (around June or July). The first lunar phases of Whiro, Tirea under the star of Pipiri occur sooner (from 30 May 2022 this year), Matariki cannot be seen during the new moon phase. So, most Māori iwi wait until the lunar phase of Tangaroa (the last quarter phase of the moon) to observe and celebrate Matariki.

Matariki's rising this year of 2022 is considered to occur from 21 June to 24 June 2022. Read below for upcoming celebrations around our Community.
